DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because figs. 6A-6D are computer program listings and not drawings. Such subject matter is not appropriate in a drawing and should be part of the specification itself. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hu et al., U.S. Pat.

No. 6,230,226 B1.

As per claim 1, Hu et al. (Hu) shows a device controller for establishing a communication channel between a slave device (fig.2,50) and a host device (20), the slave including the device controller and a function engine (52), the slave and host connected to a packet switched bus (USB 26), the controller comprising a serial interface engine (23) having a serial port (coupled to the repeater) and a data port (coupled to line 53) the serial interface engine for generating and interpreting packets on the serial bus and transferring data between the serial bus and the data port (at least in col.2 and inherent in the operation of a serial interface engine); and an interfacing device (40) connected between the serial interface engine data port and the function engine to transfer data therebetween, the interface device including a configuration module (41,27,32) for configuring without the need of a CPU the communication channel between the slave and the host. Hu shows all of the elements recited in claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 7,8,10-12, and 16-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Claims 2-6,9, and 13-15 are allowed.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: applicant's arguments with regard to claims 2-21 on pages 11-16 of the amendment filed December 1, 2003, are persuasive with regard to the Larky reference. Those same arguments are also applicable to the newly applied reference to Hu, in that those elements not shown by Larky are also not shown by Hu.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
